

A diagram of a race track. It consists of a central horizontal line segment labeled '100' representing the straight section. This segment is flanked by two semi-circular arcs representing the bends. The total length of the track is indicated as '300 m' at the right end. The track is shown in black, with the straight section highlighted in white.